

Macy is doing great. She has recovered from her surgery. We started obedience class this week, not because she is bad, just because we thought it would be fun!

I have attached a few picture of Macy in her new yard and around and a "busted--I'm in trouble" picture. She absolutely loves running and running and running. We have about 3 acres for her to play in that is bordered by the invisible fencing. She has adapted quickly to the fence.

I noticed on your web site that Macy's puppies an no longer listed. I hope they all found good homes!

Thanks for you help. We will be back before long looking for her a playmate.
